Burwell, Burwell & Nebout, L.L.P.

Representing Injured Texans and Texas Businesses for Over 35 Years

Burwell, Burwell & Nebout, L.L.P. has been representing injured Texans since 1970. The firm has secured recoveries for its injured clients in cases ranging from refinery explosions and automobile collisions to product defects and railroad and maritime incidents.

Burwell, Burwell & Nebout's extraordinary success is built on the principles of hard work, innovative strategies and strong advocacy for its clients. Over the years, the firm has secured successful recoveries for clients from such corporate stalwarts as BP, Sanyo, Cooper Tire, Toyota, Ford and Texas-New Mexico Power Company.

Recently, the firm secured recoveries for over 80 workers injured in the March 23, 2005, explosion at the BP facility in Texas City, Texas. Partner James Nebout was a member of the plaintiffs' discovery committee and was appointed by the court to be liaison counsel for those firms not on the discovery committee. The firm utilized cutting-edge Internet services to manage more than two million documents.

Smart companies have learned to use Burwell, Burwell & Nebout's litigation skills to their advantage. Representative commercial clients include banks, real estate investors, insurance companies, trucking companies and ship building companies.

In a recent commercial dispute, an out-of-state ship building company was sued in Texas for breach of contract. The plaintiff was claiming damages of $120 million. Along with the company's regular counsel, Burwell, Burwell & Nebout successfully defended fraud and conspiracy claims and negotiated a settlement in accordance with their client's damage model.

"Many companies appreciate our innovative approach," says partner, Russell G. Burwell III. "Since we are primarily a personal injury firm, we are able to offer a different point of view and flexible billing arrangements not often provided by traditional commercial firms."

Will E. Watt, vice president of Rust-Ewing Insurance agency and former president of Independent Insurance Agents of Texas says, "My insurance agency has been faced with disputes that require the litigation process to achieve resolution. I chose Burwell, Burwell & Nebout to represent my agency not only for their ability to guide us through the process in a cost-efficient
